

(24-03-2017)

British government certifies Vijay Mallya's extradition

The Ministry of External Affairs on Friday said the British government has certified India's request for loan defaulting liquor baron Vijay Mallya's extradition and a UK court is considering issuing warrant for the same.

Read More...

Kerala Becomes 1st Indian State To Declare Internet As Basic Right For Every Citizen; 20 Lakh Citizens To Get Free Internet

Kerala, the most literate state in India, has made a very sensible, and practical decision regarding access of Internet; something which can be described as a watershed moment for India's digital policy.

Kerala has just declared access of Internet as a basic right for every citizen, just like water, food and education. Such basic human rights should not be confused with Fundamental Rights, which Indian constitution provides for all Indians. However, as per UN, Internet is counted as a basic human right, and they have suggested that every country should include it as a fundamental human right as well.

Read More...

Intercepted Mobile Evidence on CD: Infringement of Constitutional Right of Defence

Electronic Interception of Telephonic Communication, also known as “Wiretapping” always clouded with various controversies as to illegality or breach of privacy however, an important concern as to what standard of evidence, the prosecution needs to establish the Admissibility, Authenticity, Veracity and Reliability of such recordings in the court.

Read More...

Maternity Benefit (Amendment) Bill, 2016 Passed...

Read more...