He is the Founder and Head Litigator at Kotak & Associates, Advocates. Yash specialises in Corporate Criminal Proceedings including white collar crimes and money laundering. He has regularly appeared before the Prevention of Money Laundering Tribunals to protect the interests of the Banks and before Special Courts to defend accused persons undergoing accusations of siphoning of funds, smuggling, mis-declarations in custom goods etc. He was also appointed as a Local Commissioner and a Receiver to discharge the directives of the Court under securitisation law (SARFAESI).

On the academic front, Yash has delivered lectures in various law colleges and is regularly invited to judge moot-court competitions. Recently, Yash conducted a Two Day Online Certified Course in conjunction with Law Administration in relation to drafting and pleadings in Criminal and Civil matters.

Dear Parent / Student,
Greetings from Lloyd Academic Community!

As we all know that Lloyd Law College organizes LTAC every year. It is an intra-college training program for selected students that runs for over six months and is organized every year. This year, i.e., 2022, we are conducting the IVth edition of the LTAC.

It is more a training program in which applications are invited, a group of 40 students is selected and training on all the stages of a criminal matter is given to the participating students. It all begins with the investigation process and ends with the 'final arguments' that are held before the trial court. Participating students play the role of Duty Officer at Police Station, Investigation Officer, Expert, Public Prosecutor, Defense Counsel, and the Accused. At each stage of a criminal matter, we invite an expert to train the participating students on that aspect and then the students participate in the competition while playing the role required at the respective stage.

The LTAC 4.0 was launched in January, 2022 and a team of selected students is ready to undertake this journey of learning and experiencing the real-life things in a simulated environment. They began their participation with playing the role of a Duty Officer and then as an Investigation Officer in the month of March-April, 2022.

Now, we are pleased to announce that journey of 40 selected students to learn & apply the learning of practical aspect of a criminal matter has begun with the Workshop on Framing of Charge in Criminal Proceedings under LTAC 4.0 which is being organized on June 08, 2022. The participants will learn practical aspects of investigation from an expert, i.e., an advocate practicing at criminal side of the trial court.

The EVENT: WORKSHOP ON FRAMNG OF CHARGES IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS UNDER (LTAC 4.0)::

The Workshop will contain following simulation exercises:

- How to read, understand & observe Police Report?
- How to identify the evidences on which prosecution will/should rely upon?
- How to give opening statement before the trial court?
- What should and what should not be part of pleadings before the trial court at this stage?
- How to give closing statement?

Expert Resource Person:: Mr. Yash Kotak, Advocate - High Court of Delhi

Mr. Yash Kotak is alumnus of SLS-Noida and has started practicing litigation from the year 2018. In short span of four years, he has turned from an intern to a freelance drafter to an independent litigator having his own firm which shows the hard work that he had done during & prior to these four years. He has experience of participating in the event similar to Lloyd Trial Advocacy Competition; hence he knows very well what is expected from him by the participants. Besides participating in the moot court competitions during his college days, he has experience of conducting similar workshops as well as judging the competitions. His knowledge, experience and understanding of these kind of competitions will benefit the participants of this workshop.
